The test had 75 questions and 1.5 hours duration.

69 were shortlisted.

Our GD topic was âIs HARTHAL a nice way to protest?.

52 were shortlisted for the interview. End of the day, 33 got placed in Capgemini. I'm so happy to say that, now I'm a member of the Capgemini family. :)

The test was online. It was a bit tough for me.

In GD, try to initiate the GD. Plus, try to speak out through out the session. Also make others speak. Don't wait for your chance to come. No one is gonna give you a chance.You have to find it yourself. Please don't keep quiet. Speak out, atleast once.Also, take initiative in concluding the GD.

The following are the questions asked to me by the interviewer:

17. What is used to measure room temperature?

18. Are you basically from Trivandrum?

I think I'm done. Be yourself, while you are in an interview. Don't sit quiet.

Tell something when the interviewer asks you anything.

When question like 12 comes, tell whatever coming to your brain. Please,please, don't keep quiet. Don't give up. Atleast make an attempt. The same with questions 13 through 17. When it comes to Technical part, don't try to fool them. Try to avoid telling 'I don't know.' Simply, sit cool. Look into the eyes of the interviewer. If you know something related to what they have asked and if you are pretty sure that it is 100% correct, tell that point. Don't act over smart. Be polite, when you answer. Don't act politeness. Keep smiling always.
